

My values

My ultimate value is my own life. I think that it's obvious. I respect my life which I got from God and I realise that my existence is only a fleeting moment in the perspective of the eternity. I deeply believe in a fact that I must make something during my earthly life because nobody lives with no purpose. We were created by the Lord to do great things.

I have also other values such as happy family and great friends. I know that I always repose in them. If I have some problems they try to help me and never leave me alone. It is a really great possibility to have somebody close to you and who always remembers about you.

Next important values for me are security and freedom. Thanks to God I live in the country free from wars and international conflicts where everyone has a freedom of speech, thoughts and faith. I feel safe in my country and town, where dangers have never afflicted me.

Another important value is a possibility of learning and developing. I have many passions and hobbies which I can work up to. Thanks to that I feel that I do what I really love and it causes me a true pleasure.

I think that everyone should realize his values in order to enjoy the height of life.
