

The most important things in life are free

"I'm not naive! If she asked me a question, she shouldn't be mad. What values are most important to me? It's so simple - my motor. Without it, I couldn't live. But she doesn't understand. Bugging me those girls, who babble all days about feelings. And still say that important things are free. Nothing is for free! For example, my motor. How much I had to slave to be able to buy it? Even if this kind of true love is important, you also need to work hard - to gain confidence, to show your true self ... It takes effort, I know that."

It was late, and Joe was riding his motor by road, which was in forest. He didn't pay any attention to what was happening around - he was upset. Emotions that tore him were very strong. He was driving fast, when suddenly the wind blew and Joe lost control of the motor. He stopped at the tree. He was lucky, because a transient called an ambulance soon. He woke up in the hospital. The first thing he saw, was tired but smiling and beautiful face. "That's her. She arrived. But why? I just yelled at her. "

- Joe, how are you?

- What are you doing here?

- The last time we talked ... I wanted to tell you ... but I couldn't. I love you Joe!

- But how? I didn't do anything for you.

- You didn't have to, because really important things in life are free.
