

The word may change your life

I think people don't wonder about the influence of words on their lives. Any kind of word : heard, said, read or written may work in two completely different ways. Nevertheless, it may have both positive and negative influence on our life.

As far as the word that may be heard is concerned we can understand it in two ways. When we hear some supportive or flattering words spoken to us, we may believe in these words strongly enough to build our self-confidence on them. But unfortunately there are so many abusive or even humiliating words that not only hurt our feelings but also may destroy our worldview.

When we praise someone using supportive words we may unconsciously build his faith in himself. But when we rebuke someone not only his or her self-being but also self-perception may be completely destroyed.

As far as the word that may be read is concerned, it gives us a lot of entertainment but we can be also motivated to change our attitude towards our lives. On the other hand, it may also have a negative impact on us. I think it depends on what we read and how we understand it!

When we write to somebody we should be careful not to hurt other people's feelings or not to make our words too troublesome. Notwithstanding, I think people write to somebody to give him or her pleasure but not to offend anyone.

Summing up, the words may have a huge impact on our lives. So we should use them reasonably because the words are so powerful that they can change someone's life.
